

DESCRIPTION FOR THE GENERAL PUBLIC

Virtual space in Poland is dominated by right-wing ideologies. This can be seen in particular on websites and portals created by young people. The “massacre of lefties” movement engaged virtual community of people with far-right political views. Posted on youtube, facebook and other social networks videos, memes and comments are meant to expose the "logical errors" in the statements of people representing “leftism” and above all to "destroy ideologically" all to whom the label of “leftie” was attached.

The aim of the project is to answer the question of who are the people involved in such online political activities and how they came to their political views. The subject of the research will provide answers to the current social phenomenon – popularity of right-wing ideologies among young people in Poland.

The planned study will be spread over three stages. In the first, thanks to research conducted online, the reconstruction of collective identity of "young anti-system Right" in Poland will be carried. Emphasis will be put on such elements as symbols, authorities, and system of values.

The second stage of the research will be based on an online survey. Collected data will provide information about material and family situation of the right-wing youth, political views of their parents, the role of politics in their daily lives.

The last stage of research – in-depth interviews with right-wing activists – will profess description of their system of values, motivation, opinions about those who represent different beliefs and "way" leading to the emergence of right-wing political views.
